SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1885.

It is to be hoped that the Puritan will be immediately placed on the stocks and a thorough search be made for that hidden propeller which certain English writers declare the American won her race with.

Joseph W. Dean, Eureka county's wealthiest citizen, was shot and killed Tuesday by a shepherd named G. T. Jenkins. Dean was married, and leaves two children. Jenkins is in custody at Battle Mountain. No particulars of the homicide have yet been received.

An Associated press correspondent has just returned from Sycamore Creek, Clay county, West Virginia, where a contagious disease has been raging for the past two weeks. Up to date 100 cases have been reported, 35 of which have proved fatal. The disease is confined to a territory ten miles square.

The decision of Judge Brewer, declaring 27,000 acres of land, hitherto held by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, open to settlement, has caused about half of the population of Kansas to hop at the chance of staking out a claim. It is perhaps unnecessary to remark that the railroad company does not appreciate these Brewer hops.

A London dispatch of the 17th received from Derby says that a serious accident has occurred at the Oakwell colliery, at Ilkestone, eight miles from Derby. The shaft of the colliery has been blocked, and 300 miners are entombed. Efforts are being made to rescue them by way of the furnace shaft, and the miners will probably be saved.

The City Council of Salt Lake City has authorized the Mayor to offer a reward of $500 for information that will lead to the detection and arrest of the persons who perpetrated the outrage upon the Federal officers. The Prophet, Seer and Revelator did the same thing when Dr. Robinson was assassinated, but then as now, it was done for a blind, probably.

A Philadelphia photographer has succeeded in getting a good picture of a "streak of chain lightning," and the Scientific American publishes a wood cut of it, showing that the streak ran in curves, like a river, instead of in jagged lines, as commonly represented in pictures. Thus another "popular error" is exploded. By-and-by no well-informed person will be prepared to accept the testimony of his eyes about anything.

The case of Maxwell, the alleged St. Louis murderer, does not cease to attract much excitement in the Southwest. The man's counsel has adopted a "streak of chain lightning" as a defense.

Whether he would get Maxwell on, he said he did not know, adding: "We shall not admit anything. We shall not admit that there is such a place as the Southern Hotel, or even such a place as St. Louis. The prosecution will have to prove everything."

A bold robber walked into the private bank of J. H. Loomis, in Attica, New York, Wednesday, knocked down the cashier, J. V. Barrows, and was walking off with $800 of the bank's money, when Postmaster A. J. Lorish, a friend of the cashier, stepped in, attracted by the noise, and after a desperate struggle arrested the robber. It is now possible that the disappointed prisoner will apply to the administration to have that Postmaster removed on the ground of "offensive partisanship."

The rank and file of the Democratic party of California, or at least that portion of it which do the active work, are not pleased, for they see no way of getting into the Custom House with Hager at the helm. "If you want to see Collector Hager, put on a white necktie, borrow a clawhammer coat, arm yourself with a step ladder and then show up with a gilt-edged card, and you may get some consideration," is their feeling as to Hager. The Field faction are not any better pleased than the English crowd.

Horatio Seymour's Views.

The New York World prints an interview with Horatio Seymour, who says: "There is grave danger the Civil Service Commissioners becoming a greater abuse than the spoils system. I think a much simpler, more direct method could be found than that under the present law. There can be no question that as long as we have a Civil Service Commission, its members, the majority of them at least, should be in sympathy with the prevailing Administration and none but good and tried Democrats should be appointed to office under a Democratic Administration." Mr. Seymour declines to express an opinion of Cleveland, and thought the Democratic prospects in New York this Fall are doubtful. Regarding political changes, Mr. Seymour is reported saying: "It is curious how position of States and men change in the course of time. All through New York in the earliest history of this country, the term Confederate States is used, going to show what their ideas were then on the subject of secession. The next decade or so may find her back to the old doctrine."

A Curious Incident.

An interesting incident took place at the White House Tuesday, the spectacle being that of a Republican Senator urging before a Democratic President the appointment of a Democrat to office. C. J. Noltner, of Portland, is a member of the National Democratic Committee of Oregon. Noltner is an Applicant for the position of Postmaster of Portland. There being no Democratic Senator or Representative from Oregon, Noltner was forced to ask Senator Dolph to introduce him and indorse him to the President, which Dolph did in a handsome manner. Dolph said he regarded Noltner as the choice of the Democrats of Portland for the Postmastership, and outside of the fact that he was a Democrat he was a pretty good fellow.

The utter disregard of the laws of health shown by the Chinese was well illustrated by the discovery in the San Francisco Chinatown of an underground depot for the preparation of the bones of Celestials for shipment to China, in which were found the half-decomposed remains of a large number of Mongolians. The odor from the place was sickening, and the only wonder is that it has not already bred a pestilence. It seems that the Chinese have been exhuming bodies from their cemetery and using this cellar as a place for scraping the rotten flesh from the bones. The den was discovered by accident. The worst feature of it is that another place of the same kind will probably be started in Chinatown at once, as the Mongolian never allows himself to be checked by our laws.

It was announced a short time ago that a willow tree in the neighborhood of Riverside Park was grown from a slip cut from a bough which had helped

Leon. Since then no loyal Frenchman has come to the park without a knife, and now there is scarcely a willow in the entire park which has not suffered, and many have been badly disfigured.

The good feeling which exists between Mexico and the United States displayed itself in practical form on Wednesday in the Mexican capital, on the occasion of the celebration of the anniversary of Mexican independence, when the American residents blended the colors of the two countries, and the portraits of General Grant and Juarez and Hidalgo were placed side by side.

The first oranges of the season, raised near Leesburg, Fla., were received in Savannah Friday week, fully three weeks ahead of any past season. The fruit was fully ripe and in excellent condition. The Florida orange crop promises to be the largest ever raised in that State.

A poor servant girl of Broome Co. N. Y., who married the son of a rich man two years ago, has just had a verdict for $4,000 against her father-in-law awarded her on the ground that he alienated her husband's affections, in consequence of which she has had to again earn her own living.

A Wilkesbarre woman had a man arrested for whistling at her. The local paper remarked that she was not any too good to be whistled at, and she promptly brought suit for libel.
